To the greatest people!

Since I do not know when I'll get my next Monday off (Woot! OverTime!!) I thought this little note would be nice.

Near the end of July everyone had an evaluation. I was amongst the few who rose up and exceeded expectations. Everyone recieved a raise but only a few got more than a dollar. Last we talked after my 90 days I was at $15.0 an hour. This late July evaluation bumped me up $1.50.

Mostly because of Merrit, such as; one of the Top Producers, positive attitude, eager to learn, and ambitious. So now I'm at a glorious $16.50 an hour. I will continue to grow as a person and a leader. To become a great example and team player. I didn't get here by myself, though. I was just in the door way. Y'all got me here along with the tax payers who fund this program. I'd still be in that door way if it weren't for any of you.

Beyound words Thank you very much for helping me get here and start the next "probably Most" imporant step in my life. Hope to see all of you again soon!

Thanks for taking a risk, being the greatest help and mentors, as well as patient and encouraging.

With Graditude
